Summary: Stonemason Andrew Knightley is pushed under a London Underground train during the morning rush hour. DI Max Arnold and his partner, DS Priya Shamsie, together build a picture of a lonely, devout, and troubled man who believed a spirit was leaving him vengeful Biblical messages. But the killer is flesh and blood, and a more earthly explanation may be found in the truth of Knightley's life.

The detectives investigate the death of a lonely stonemason on the London Underground. The victim was a deeply troubled and devoutly religious man who believed he was being haunted by a spirit leaving him vengeful biblical messages. As DI Arnold and DC Shamsie uncover the truth behind his life, they start to realize the answers might actually lie in the real world.

Mrs Romano
