Summary: When agents of the Empire pose a new threat, Obi-Wan Kenobi emerges after years of hiding.

Several younglings are training at the Jedi Temple under the instruction of Jedi Master Minas Velti when several clone troopers burst into the chamber. Velti cuts down several of the attackers and leads the younglings down a corridor, fighting more clones. Eventually, she succumbs to the attackers, and the younglings decide to flee.

Ten years later, the inhabitants of the city of Mos Eisley on the desert world of Tatooine are alerted by the arrival of a black, menacing Imperial shuttle. Several Inquisitors, including the Grand Inquisitor, the Fifth Brother, and the Third Sister disembark from the shuttle. They walk into a saloon and approach the manager, asking if he knows who they are—Jedi hunters. The Grand Inquisitor tells the manager they are investigating rumors of a Jedi hiding in this particular saloon, musing whether the Jedi fugitive is a wanderer who attends to people in need, and asks whether the Jedi would help the manager and risk exposure or hide. The Third Sister hurls a knife at the manager but it is stopped by a young human man motioning. The Inquisitorius stop the man from fleeing and The Grand Inquisitor orders his underlings to prepare the prisoner for interrogation.

When the man defiantly tells the Inquisitors that they are wasting their time and that they will never find the Jedi, the Third Sister attempts to use her lightsaber to kill the man, but is restricted by the Grand Inquisitor. This results in the would-be fatal strike only burning part of his left shoulder. Using the Force to push away the Third Sister, The Grand Inquisitor chastises the Third Sister for her recklessness while the man flees from the saloon. While the Third Sister opines that they should be finding bigger pray, The Grand Inquisitor warns the Third Sister to stop her fixation with Obi-Wan Kenobi or she will be relieved of her duties.

Elsewhere, several workers, including the fugitive Jedi Master Obi-Wan Kenobi, are wrapping up their work day carving up flesh from the remains of a krayt dragon. One worker, Padu Cherd, complains to the foreman, Groff Ditcher, about his meager wages but is instead assaulted by the burly human; Kenobi duly accepts his wage and rides a hovertrain with the other workers to Anchorhead. He meets up with his eopie steed and rides out into the Jundland Wastes to his shelter cave, where he cooks himself a stew broth. The Jawa Teeka visits Kenobi in his cave, presenting him with several spare parts for a toy T-16 skyhopper, for which Kenobi offers to pay 50 credits. After discussing his broken moisture vaporator, Kenobi realizes that Teeka is attempting to sell him parts that the Jawa has stolen from him. The Jawa then shows salvaged components from a Jedi starship that had crashed into the Dune Sea, with Kenobi replying that the Jedi are believed to be extinct.

Later that night, Kenobi is haunted by memories of his former apprentice, Anakin Skywalker; Skywalker's wife, Padmé Amidala; his former Master, Qui-Gon Jinn; and Grand Master Yoda. Kenobi awakens from his dream and reflects on his promise to Master Qui-Gon to train Skywalker as a Jedi. The following day, Kenobi rides his eopie to a rocky hill, from where he watches through a pair of macrobinoculars a young Luke Skywalker and his uncle, Owen Lars at the Lars homestead. Kenobi smiles, knowing that Skywalker is in safe hands. The following night, Kenobi rides through the desert and is met by the young man, Nari, who had escaped the Inquisitors. Nari is delighted to meet Kenobi and pleads for his help, but the Jedi Master urges him to leave and bury his lightsaber in the desert to avoid drawing attention. When Nari asks Kenobi about the people who need them, Kenobi replies that the fight is lost and that the time of the Jedi is over.

Elsewhere on Alderaan, several servants dress a young Princess Leia Organa. Queen Breha Organa enters the room, telling her adoptive daughter that they are going to be late. She asks the servants how they are doing and tells Leia that her sister's family needs their support. She tells Leia not to make anyone cry and promises that there will be marshmallows at the reception if she behaves herself.

Breha soon discovers that the figure is actually an alien friend of Leia, who remarks that Leia told her she would find it amusing. Breha believes that Leia must be in the cellar, kitchen or in the woods. Meanwhile, Leia runs through the woods with a flying droid L0-LA59. She climbs a tree, which the droid friend follows. Leia counts several ships including a medical freighter, pleasure barge, and a casino ship. The droid chips in agreement. Leia also spots a Tri-Wing S-91x Pegasus Starfighter, believing it to be in use by an Aquillian Ranger, which she believes is scouting for Merson pirates.

Breha soon finds her daughter and tells Leia to climb down. She tells Leia to shut down her droid Lola as punishment. Leia obliges. Breha tells Leia that if she behaves as well as she climbed, she would be a senator already. Breha tells Leia that she would have to change in the speeder. Leia grumbles about having to attend the gathering but Breha says that she would miss her. Leia complains that all she gets to do is wave, prompting Breha to tell her adopted daughter to do more than waving. Leia later apologizes to Breha and hugs her, taking the opportunity to snatch back Lola. Unknown to the Organas and their guards, they are being watched by a figure.

Back on Tatooine, Kenobi smuggles more krayt dragon meat and rides on the hovertrain to Anchorhead. He heads to the stable where his eopie is resting. Kenobi is then confronted by Owen Lars, who hurls the skyhopper toy parts on the ground. He tells Ben to stay away from his family and that they don't need anything from him. Kenobi says that it is just a toy. When Owen says that it is a lot more than that, Kenobi replies that there is more to life than his farm. Kenobi tells Owen that Luke needs to see the wider galaxy but Owen reiterates his demand to leave them alone.

When Kenobi asks if Luke is okay, Owen assumes that Kenobi is interested in his nephew's Force-sensitivity. Kenobi replies that it is his responsibility. Owen reminds Kenobi that he is Luke's uncle. Kenobi responds that when the time comes he must be trained. Owen asks if he means to train Luke like he trained his father Anakin, whom he believes to be dead. Owen is unwilling to let Kenobi make the same mistake twice and warns him to leave Luke on the farm with his family where he belongs. He walks away.

Just then, the Fifth Brother addresses the local inhabitants, telling them that there is a Jedi fugitive on this planet and that they need to know where he is. The Fifth Brother promises that they will be rewarded. However, the Third Sister threatens them with punishment, threatening to cut off hands. The Fifth Brother rebukes her, addressing her as Reva. The Third Sister bullies the inhabitants, telling them that as people of the Outer Rim they have no rights. When a woman protests, the Third Sister cuts off her hand.

The Third Sister explains that they are looking for information about a Jedi. She takes an interest in Owen Lars and his family. She asks if he has a Jedi on his farm. Owen replies that he has no love for the Jedi, regarding them as vermin. He says that he kills vermin on his farm. Reva compliments him for loving his family before asking if he thinks that he can protect them from her. The Third Sister then demands that the crowd reveal where the Jedi fugitive is or she will kill Lars and his family.

As the crowd watches in fear and horror, Reva denounces the Jedi as cowards. Kenobi hides in the stable. The Third Sister tells the crowd that the Jedi failed them and abandoned them. She says that there is no point in protecting them since they would not do the same for you. She urges the town inhabitants to save this man and his family before threatening Lars with her lightsaber.

Before the situation can escalate, the Fifth Brother tells Reva to stop and produces a hologram of Nari, telling the locals that they would be rewarded if they cooperate. He orders the Third Sister to stand down. She complies but warns Lars that he won't be so lucky next time. In private, the Fifth Brother chastises the Third Inquisitor for her impulsiveness. Reva is defiant, saying that Tatooine is beneath them. The Fifth Brother replies that the Grand Inquisitor was right about her obsession with Kenobi.

The Fifth Brother believes that Kenobi is gone since they have spent the past ten years looking for him. Reva replies that they have been looking in the wrong places. The Fifth Brother asks what she will gain by capturing him. Reva replies what she is owed before walking away. The Fifth Brother warns the Third Sister about going too far. She counters that he doesn't go far enough before walking away. The Inquisitors' shuttle departs the town. Kenobi thanks Owen for not revealing his presence. Owen replies that he did not do it for him.

On Alderaan, a blue and white shuttle arrives. Senator Bail Prestor Organa is joined by his wife Brea and adoptive daughter Leia. When he asks Leia how her day went, she tells him that she saw a trading ship and an Aquillian Ranger. Brea tells her husband not to encourage Leia too much. The Organas greet their relatives including Leia's aunt Celly Organa, her uncle Kayo Organa and her cousin Niano Organa. They drive in a speeder, greeted by crowds of people.

At a function, Kayo praises the Galactic Empire for lining some pockets after the disaster of the Galactic Republic. Bail expresses concerns about slavery and taxation of the Outer Rim. Kayo says that he didn't come to end slavery but to eat Bail's food and tells him to save his bleeding heart for the Imperial Senate. Brea offers to serve drinks. While C-3PO is translating for some alien guests, the protocol droid Y-O serves Leia and the children some drinks. Leia thanks the droid, which elicits bemusement from Niano, who regards droids as lower life forms.

Leia retorts that she doesn't need manners when engaging with her cousin Niano. Niano tells Leia that he knows some things about her including why her parents do not allow her to leave Alderaan. He dismisses Leia as not being a real Organa, prompting Leia to tell him that he is scared of his father. Since Niano wants his father to like him, she reasons that he repeats what he says even though he doesn't really know what it means. Leia tells Niano that he is scared of his father and that he has never made one decision for himself in his entire life. She says she can see that even though she doesn't know much about him. Bail and Brea take notice of their adoptive daughter's behavior.

Later, Leia defends her actions towards her cousin Niano, saying that he was being mean to everyone including droids. Brea counsels her adopted daughter to rise above the situation and tells her to apologize. Leia replies that she would rather be devoured by a Jakobeast. After Brea leaves, Bail speaks to his daughter, telling her that he wanted to live way past Kathou when he was her age. Bail says that he wanted to chase purrgil but that when he got older, he had to chase other adventures including Leia's adoptive mother.

Bail tells Leia that her future is in politics, beginning with university and then Junior Senate. Leia says that the Senate is boring and that she doesn't want to be a senator. Bail reassures her that is why she would probably be one of the best senators. Leia says that she is not a real Organa. Bail tells her not to say that and reassures her that she is their child and an Organa in every way. He says that many will look to her for leadership and asks her to imagine the look on her cousin's face when she bosses him around. Bail tells Leia to apologize to Niano before heading downstairs.

Instead of apologizing, Leia heads into the forest. Realizing that Leia has not rejoined them, her adoptive parents send a unit after her. In the forest, Leia encounters a man named Vect Nokru, whom she asks what he is doing here. He replies that he is waiting. When she asks for what, he says for her. Two of Nokru's associates, including a Falleen, corner Leia and she flees into the forest. As Alderaanian guards head into the forest, Leia flees through the forests with her pursuers hot on her trail. Leia approaches one of the Alderaanian guards and asks for help. However, he is shot by Nokru. Leia is then surrounded by her kidnappers, one of whom covers her head with a sack.

On Tatooine, Kenobi receives a distress call from Senator Organa and Queen Breha, who contact him using a portable holoprojector. Bail says that they don't know who the kidnappers are and that they have no leads. Bail says that the kidnappers were lying in wait for their daughter. Breha adds that Leia needs him and that they can't trust anyone else. When Kenobi asks what about the Imperial Senate, Bail says that they can't risk drawing too much attention to their daughter. Kenobi is still reluctant to intervene and suggests that the Organas send a member of their guard or a bounty hunter. Bail reminds her that only Kenobi understands how important Leia is.

Kenobi is reluctant to abandon Luke but Bail reminds him about Leia, stating that she is important as he is. Kenobi says that it has been ten years and that he is not whom he used to be. He asks the Organas to find someone else. Meanwhile, Nokru and his associates lock Leia into a holding cell aboard their starship. Kenobi's choices

Later, Kenobi continues his work at the meatworks. He travels on a hovertrain to Anchorhead where the Inquisitors have killed the Jedi Nari and hung his body as a warning to the townsfolk. Kenobi is saddened by the death of the Jedi and returns to his cave. The vaporator droid buzzes red. Inside the cave, Kenobi is greeted by a cloaked figure who reveals himself as Bail Organa. Bail tells Kenobi that Leia is headed to Daiyu.

Kenobi tells Bail that he should not have come. Bail says that the kidnappers hid their signature behind a freight transport and the ship is on its way to Daiyu. Kenobi is still unwilling to get involve. Bail says that Leia is daughter. Kenobi says that he is not the man he used to be and refuses to abandon Luke. Bail says he knows that this is not about Luke. He understands that they have all made mistakes and that it is all in the past. He implores Kenobi to move on from his mistakes, saying that he couldn't save Anakin but that he can save her.

Kenobi is pessimistic but Bail reassures him that there is no one else that he would trust more with his child than Kenobi. He begs his old friend Kenobi to do it for her, describing it as his one last fight.

Aboard the kidnappers' ship, Leia activates her droid companion Lola and gets the hover droid to untie her. Just then, Nokru enters the room. Leia states that she is not afraid of him but he replies give it time. He grabs Lola and hurls her to the ground, shattering the droid. Leia tells Nokru that her father Bail is coming with an army. Nokru replies that nobody is coming for her before leaving the room.

Back on Tatooine, Kenobi dismounts from his eopie and begins digging. Meanwhile, one of Nokru's Nikto associates confides that this might be a bad idea. Nokru tells him to get it over with. Elsewhere, Kenobi continues digging and finds a chest. Inside, he retrieves two lightsabers, which have been wrapped in a linen cloth. Back aboard the starship, Nokru asks Reva if she is sure that Kenobi will come. She replies that Kenobi fought alongside her father during the Clone Wars and believes that he will come because he won't be able to help it. She believes that the Jedi will help hunt himself. On Tatooine, Kenobi heads to a spaceport. A dark-skinned human woman asks if he is coming and he pays the fare. Kenobi walks towards a freighter.

Summary: On a dangerous crime-ridden world, Obi-Wan becomes a target.

Obi-Wan Kenobi heads to Daiyu to find young Princess Leia Organa and bring her back to her parents, Senator Bail Organa and Breha Organa. Obi-Wan didn't know where to go, so he asked a man in the streets of Daiyu. Kenobi tracked the signal from Vect Nokru's ship, but the man said that all signals to and from Daiyu were blocked, making it impossible to determine Vect Nokru's whereabouts. He walked on and encountered a homeless clone trooper from the 501st Legion who asked for credits. Kenobi then proceeded to drop some credits into the clone's helmet.

He brushes past two stormtroopers, one of whom barks orders at pedestrians. A pink-haired girl named Tetha Grig approaches Kenobi, offering to sell him a variety of spice including Kessel pure, glitterstim, and Felucian spice. Kenobi claims that he is looking for his kidnapped daughter on the planet. The girl is pessimistic about Kenobi finding his daughter, before revealing that she was once someone's daughter before she ended up on Daiyu. Taking pity on Kenobi, she gives him some spice as a means of forgetting his loss.

A dark skinned boy named Jayco approaches Kenobi, telling him that there is a Jedi who helps people. Kenobi responds that the Jedi are all gone. Jayco offers to take him to the Jedi for the right price.

Meanwhile, a hooded man named Haja Estree leads a human woman and her son Corran into a courtyard with cages, claiming that they are safe. The hooded man removes his hood and seemingly uses the Force to summon a comlink. He contacts Gate 3-C for a spaceport passenger check. A male contact requests to know who is the caller, stating that this is a private channel. The man claims that he is doing a Jedi mind trick and tells the respondent that he is sending a mother and child through Gate 3-C so that they can travel to Corellia.

The woman believes that the Force is strong with Haja and thanks him for protecting her Force-sensitive son from the Galactic Empire. The mother gives her some credits and promises she will never forget him. Haja tells her to forget him since his safety depends on it. Kenobi watches as Haja fingers his cash before telling the respondent that he is on his way.

Kenobi approaches Haja, who asks how he got in here. Kenobi tells her that a girl has been kidnapped and that he needs help to rescue her. Haja introduces himself as a Jedi, claiming that he helps those in need in exchange for a few credits. When Kenobi asks for his price, Haja charges 500 credits to locate the girl and another 300 credits to take him to her. He also offers to show Kenobi a few tricks in return for 1,000 credits.

When Haja attempts to impress Kenobi with his knowledge of the Force, Kenobi exposes him as a fraud who has been using remotes and magnets to mimic the Force. As Kenobi removes the magnets at gunpoint, he chastises Haja for taking advantage of their plight. Haja admits fleecing his customers but insists that he got them somewhere safe. Haja asks if he is not going to tell anyone. Kenobi replies that depends on what he tells him, prompting Haja to ask if he is a bounty hunter.

Cornered, Haja agrees to help Kenobi find the missing girl. Haja offers to lead him to the sewers but warns Kenobi that he believes he will never get in. A disguised Kenobi enters a makeshift laboratory where he causes a glass tank to explode, creating a distraction that allows him to slip through a door. He is confronted by a Zabrak and human worker who query about his presence. Kenobi fights the pair, who put up a fierce fight. Kenobi manages to subdue them and forces the human worker to reveal where the girl is being held.

Kenobi finds cell where he finds a hooded figure whom he believes to be Princess Leia. However, it turns out to be a derelict droid serving as a decoy. Kenobi is captured by Vect Nokru's Falleen and Nikto associates, who restrain him. Nokru enters the room, expressing surprise that a Jedi could fall for his trap. He mocks Kenobi for risking everything for a "little brat" before kicking him to the ground. Nokru fingers Kenobi's lightsaber, saying that the Third Sister was right about him. He believes that he and his associates will get rich from Kenobi's capture.

Kenobi demands to know Leia's whereabouts but Nokru dismisses him as a mere man who bleeds. Kenobi replies that everybody bleeds before dropping a vial of red spice that blinds the mercenaries. Kenobi takes the opportunity to escape and locks the kidnapers in their own cell.

Meanwhile, the Third Inquisitor approaches the sewers, brushing pedestrians aside. Kenobi finds Leia, who initially puts up a fight. Kenobi tells her that her father sent him to rescue her. When Leia asks why she should trust him, he asks if she would prefer to remain in her cell. He leads her out of the sewers into the streets of Daiyu. Kenobi tells her to keep her head down.

Elsewhere, Nokru and his associates struggle with the effects of the spice. The Third Inquisitor demands to know Kenobi's whereabouts. While Kenobi and Leia change out of their clothes, Leia realizes that he is Jedi while noting his unkempt appearance. Kenobi tells Leia that they have to head to the spaceport and reach the last transport. Leia insists on going but Kenobi tells her that he is risking his life being here and instructs Leia to cooperate.

Meanwhile, the Grand Inquisitor along with the Fifth Brother and Fourth Sister confront the Third Inquisitor. He chastises Reva for kidnapping an Imperial Senator's daughter. Reva counters that they have done worst, prompting a protest from the Fifth Brother. She tells her fellow Inquisitors that she has found a link between Kenobi and Organa in the archives and that she used Leia as bait to lure him out of hiding. The Grand Inquisitor is furious that Reva disobeyed his orders but she is defiant.

The Fifth Brother accuses Reva of trying to curry favor with their superiors while the Grand Inquisitor reminds her that she is the least of them. The Pau'an reminds the Third Inquisitor of her lowly origins but Reva accuses the Grand Inquisitor of failure. The Grand Inquisitor orders them to secure the city and vows to capture Kenobi himself. He relieves Reva of her duties and warns that she will be disciplined for going rogue. The Grand Inquisitor departs with the other Inquisitors.

However, a defiant Reva places a bounty on Kenobi, which draws the attention of local bounty hunters and criminals. She also contacts Nokru and his associates, explaining that her plan is to draw Kenobi out of hiding so that she can deal with him. Across the Daiyu city, several bounty hunters and criminals receive an alert for Kenobi. Realizing the situation has deteriorated, Kenobi buys Leia a green cape and tells her to pretend that they are a farming family from Taul.

While walking through the marketplace, Kenobi advises Leia to keep a low profile. To prove that he is a Jedi, Leia also asks Kenobi to produce his lightsaber. When Kenobi refuses, Leia tries to convince Kenobi to levitate but the Jedi is unwilling to expose his cover to the Empire. When Leia asks his name, he tells her that his name is Ben and insists that she trust him. Leia reluctantly reveals that she is ten years old, prompting Kenobi to quip that she does not look her age.

Meanwhile, Jayco informs Haja about the bounty on Kenobi and the girl Leia. Seeking an opportunity to make money, Haja decides to join the hunt for Kenobi. While walking through a narrow street, Kenobi is accosted by a human bounty hunter but knocks him unconscious. Elsewhere in the city, the Grand Inquisitor orders the Fifth Brother to lock down the city and to dispatch a garrison within the hour. He also emphasizes the importance of capturing Kenobi, describing him as the ember of a bygone era.

The Fourth Sister brings a captured bounty hunter and reveals that Reva has posted a bounty on Kenobi. Reva surveys the surrounding area from a high building. While hiding in an alleyway, Leia tends to her damaged droid companion L0-LA59 ("Lola"). She tells Kenobi that she was damaged by the kidnappers. Kenobi reassures her that he will let her parents know that she is safe and will be home by nightfall. Leia tells Kenobi that he can just call her Leia.

Kenobi tend inspects the incapacitated bounty hunter's hologram. Leia notices the hologram and believes that he lied to her. She thinks that the kidnappers kidnapped her as a means of luring Kenobi out of hiding. Leia questions whether her father actually sent him and if he is the real kidnapper. Kenobi pleads with Leia to trust him, stating that he is an old friend of her father. Leia does not believe him and runs away.

Leia flees into the marketplace, diving under a lumbering Gigoran and navigating through an animal auction. She runs into the path of a masked bounty hunter who is hunting for Kenobi. He demands to know Kenobi's whereabouts but Kenobi shoots him down. Kenobi also fights a gray skinned humanoid. He follows Leia but she tells him to leave her alone. Leia climbs a ladder while the Inquisitors lead stormtroopers into the marketplace.

Leia reaches the roof and flees across several buildings with Kenobi in pursuit. A reptilian bounty hunter attempts to shoot Kenobi. Kenobi shoots back but the gunshots alert Reva, who leaps over several buildings. Leia continues fleeing with Kenobi in pursuit while dodging fire from the reptilian bounty hunter, who is joined by the droid bounty hunter 1-JAC.

Meanwhile, Reva uses the Force to collapse an antennae tower, which she uses as an improvised bridge. Kenobi manages to shoot the reptilian bounty hunter. Against Kenobi's warnings, Leia tries to jump onto another building but the gap is too wide. She tries to cling onto a cable but loses her grip. Kenobi is forced to use the Force to cushion her blow, causing her to drop to the ground lightly. Several pedestrians witness Kenobi's display of Force power. Kenobi's decision to save Leia's life convinces her that he is a genuine Jedi.

Kenobi and Leia reach the spaceport only to learn that the authorities have canceled all incoming travel and are scanning passengers. The spaceport is guarded by stormtroopers and Inquisitors. When asked by Leia, Kenobi explains that the Inquisitors are former Jedi who turned to the dark side of the Force. Leia questions why the Imperials would target a Jedi like him. The two are surprised by 1-JAC but Haja shoots the droid bounty hunter.

Thinking that Haja has come to hunt him down, Kenobi pleads with him to let Leia go. Haja tells Kenobi about a second escape route: a full automated cargo pod. He tells them to go to Transport 8, which will take them to Mapuzo where he claims that people who can help them will be waiting. Kenobi distrusts Haja. Haja admits that he has a chequered record and is motivated by credits. Haja tells Kenobi that he is trying to make amends and offers Kenobi a card containing some coordinates. When Kenobi asks if Haja can be trusted, Haja tells him to trust him and reassures Kenobi that he is not alone. Haja agrees to buy Kenobi and Leia enough time to escape.

Meanwhile, the Grand Inquisitor interrogates Nokru with his double-bladed spinning lightsaber, demanding to know Kenobi's location. Nokru says he doesn't know, prompting the Grand Inquisitor to strike him down with his weapon. Meanwhile, Reva meets a disguised Haja in an alleyway. Haja claims that he is a Jedi but Reva is not interested. Haja attempts to block Reva but she realizes that he is no Jedi. Reva questions him about Kenobi's location but he claims to be the only Jedi around. Reva uses the Force to hurl him against a wall but he remains defiant. She instead uses a mind probe to obtain Kenobi's whereabouts.

Following Haja's instructions, Kenobi and Leia arrive at the cargo port. Kenobi doesn't trust Haja but Leia thinks they should accept help given their recent adventures. Kenobi says that Leia reminds him of someone who was fearless and stubborn. Leia denies that she is stubborn. When Leia asks if her friend was a Jedi, Kenobi describes her as a leader who had died a long time ago.

Before they can proceed, Reva enters the cargo port. Kenobi and Leia hide behind crates. He tells her to go first while he prepares to fight Reva. Leia enters the cargo shuttle and activates it using the starter key which Haja gave. Reva attempts to lure Kenobi out of hiding, offering to bring him to Darth Vader. She adds that Anakin Skywalker is alive and has been looking for Kenobi for a long time. She boasts of delivering Kenobi to Vader.

However, she is interrupted by the Grand Inquisitor, who has had enough of her insubordination. Reva says that she has found Kenobi but the Grand Inquisitor responds that he cannot risk her losing him again. He orders the younger Inquisitor to move aside but she stabs him through his torso. While Reva gloats over her wounded superior, Kenobi joins Leia inside the cargo shuttle, which powers up. As the cargo shuttle departs, a frustrated Reva vows that the Empire will find him.

Inside the shuttle, Kenobi senses a disturbance in the Force. Leia notices that he is in distress. Elsewhere, Lord Vader awakes while submerged inside a bacta tank.

Summary: Obi-Wan searches for allies as he attracts the attention of the Empire, threatening the locals.

On Mustafar, Darth Vader rises from his Bacta tank and is assembled by nearby machinery. The Dark Lord is later informed by the Third Sister that Obi-Wan is alive, and that the Grand Inquisitor has been incapacitated. Dismissing the loss of the Grand Inquisitor, Vader orders the Third Sister to prove herself capable and that she will be made the new Grand Inquisitor, threatening that she will not live to regret her failures.

Obi-Wan meditates in the cargo bay of the shuttle that he and Leia had boarded to escape Daiyu, silently reflecting on the realization that his former apprentice is still alive. The cargo shuttle soon lands on the planet Mapuzo, which is under the occupation of the Galactic Empire. Obi-Wan tells Leia to pretend to be his daughter and to use a fake name, and that he is a farmer. The duo begins walking towards the rendezvous point that had been set up by Haja Estree. Along the way, Obi-Wan explains to Leia that Mapuzo had once been a lush world, but was now rendered a barren wasteland due to the Empire's mining activities. Obi-Wan then has a brief vision of a hooded figure on the horizon, which turns out to be Anakin Skywalker. Obi-Wan quickly snaps out of the vision and the two continue their travels. Avoiding the Empire

The Third Sister arrives at Fortress Inquisitorius to inform the other Inquisitors of her mission and that she has been put in charge of the search for Kenobi. She demands that Probe Droids be sent out to pinpoint Obi-Wan's location, while the other Inquisitors reluctantly agree to her temporary leadership.

On Mapuzo, the two eventually reach the rendezvous point, but find that Haja's contact is nowhere to be found. Leia waves down a nearby vehicle and convinces the driver, Freck, to drive them to the nearest space port. Freck agrees, and Obi-Wan and Leia climb on the back. Obi-Wan takes notice of an Imperial banner hung on the back of Freck's vehicle. Along the way, Freck reveals that he is a staunch supporter of the Empire, which Leia and Obi-Wan agree to in order to avoid suspicion. Soon after, Freck stops and offers a ride to a squad of travelling Stormtroopers. The Stormtroopers question Obi-Wan if he is a miner, to which he denies, claiming he is a farmer. Obi-Wan accidentally refers to Leia by her real name, which catches the attention of the troopers.

Obi-Wan quickly covers the mistake by claiming that Leia simply reminds him of his deceased wife. Seemingly convinced, the troopers tell Obi-Wan to report if he sees anything and depart. Leia questions if Obi-Wan knew her real mother, and even asks if he is her real dad, to which he denies. Leia shares with Obi-Wan that she frequently thinks of what her real family looked like, to which Obi-Wan empathizes with. Obi-Wan reveals that he vaguely remembers his parents and younger brother, but that the Jedi Order was his new family.

Soon after, Freck stops his vehicle at an Imperial checkpoint, and reports to the troopers stationed at the checkpoint that they might want to interrogate Obi-Wan. A Stormtrooper calls in a Probe Droid and orders Obi-Wan out of the vehicle, to which he hesitantly complies with. As the Probe Droid begins scanning Obi-Wan's face, he brandishes his blaster and destroys the droid. He quickly dispatches the Stormtroopers and disables the checkpoint, allowing Leia and him to pass through. A small squad of Stormtroopers along with an Imperial officer arrives, responding to the firefight. Unbeknownst to the troopers, the officer, Tala Durith, was actually Bail's contact. Tala proceeds to kill the troopers with a blaster before helping Obi-Wan and Leia escape the area. Escape from Mapuzo

Tala brings Obi-Wan and Leia to a nearby settlement and states that they need to lay low for a few hours until one of her pilots can take them off-world. They seek shelter in Tala's workshop, where she reveals that she secretly works to help Jedi and other force-sensitives, at one point even working with Quinlan Vos. Tala also reveals that she once believed in the Empire, but grew disillusioned when the regime became increasingly totalitarian. When night falls, the trio depart for the spaceport, but Obi-Wan senses a disturbance and reels against a wall. Outside of the building, Darth Vader and a contingent of Inquisitors and Stormtroopers have arrived. Vader walks through the streets of the settlement, terrorizing civilians and killing at random in order to draw Kenobi out. Obi-Wan tells Tala to get Leia to the Alderaan while he distracts Vader. As Tala and Leia head to the spaceport, Obi-Wan flees into a nearby quarry, where he is pursued by Vader. Reunion

As Obi-Wan heads through the quarry, he is startled by the sudden appearance of Vader, who ignites his lightsaber. Obi-Wan draws his lightsaber but doesn't ignite it, and runs away immediately after. Vader continues to follow Obi-Wan, who eventually stands his ground. Upon seeing Vader again, Obi-Wan asks what has he become, to which Vader responds that he is what Obi-Wan has made him. Hesitant to fight, Obi-Wan runs away once more.

Meanwhile, Leia convinces Tala to return and help Obi-Wan, and that she is capable of reaching the ship by herself. Tala reluctantly agrees and heads back to find Obi-Wan.

Obi-Wan continues to traverse the quarry, now being hunted by Vader. Suddenly, Vader emerges from the darkness and swings his lightsaber at Obi-Wan, who reflects the blade with his own. A brief yet fierce duel ensues, with Vader quickly overpowering Obi-Wan and forcing him back. After knocking down a storage container filled with flammable rocks, Vader seizes Obi-Wan with the force. Igniting the flammable rocks with his lightsaber, Vader forces Kenobi into the flames, claiming that his pain has only begun. Momentarily satisfied, Vader orders his Stormtroopers to seize Obi-Wan. Tala returns and re-ignites the rock with blaster bolt, cutting Obi-Wan off from Vader and his troops. Tala quickly moves in to rescue Kenobi, who has sustained serious burns, and they escape.

As Leia heads to the ship, she runs into the Third Sister, who had arrived first and killed the pilot. The Inquisitor tries to win Leia's trust, but Leia, sensing danger, instead turns and runs.

Summary: Obi-Wan Kenobi plots a daring mission into enemy territory.

Obi-Wan Kenobi wakes up to find himself in a starship flown by Tala Durith. Tala and her droid NED-B tend to Kenobi. Through flashbacks, Kenobi remembers being carried by Tala and her operatives to safety. While submerged inside a bacta tank, Kenobi is haunted by memories of his earlier duel with Darth Vader. Panicking, Kenobi climbs out of the bacta tank. Tala reveals that they are on the planet Jabiiim. Kenobi asks about Leia's whereabouts.

At Fortress Inquisitorius on the ocean moon of Nur, a defiant Leia tells her stormtrooper captors that she is the daughter of a senator and a Princess of Alderaan. The Third Sister Reva enters the interrogation room, stating that the Empire doesn't tolerate Jedi sympathizers. She also claims that Kenobi is dead and that nobody is coming for her.

On Jabiiim, Tala and Kenobi approach Roken, who wants Kenobi to leave on the first transport on the grounds that he is putting them in danger. Kenobi seeks Roken's assistance in rescuing Leia but Roken is unwilling to help. Tala stresses Leia's importance to their work but Roken doesn't want to risk exposing their operations. Kenobi pleads with Roken but he warns that he has no idea what the Empire is capable of. Roken talks about the pain of losing his Force-sensitive spouse to the Inquisitors.

Roken ultimately agrees to help Kenobi. Later, he briefs Kenobi and Tala about the water moon of Nur in the Mustafar system. Roken's intelligence suggests that Lord Vader is still on his ship but he believes that the Sith Lord is close. Roken's rebel comrades Wade Resselian and Sully discuss infiltrating Fortress Inquisitorius with Roken, who describes it as the Inquisitors' command center and training facility. Sully admits that they do not know what lies inside the fortress. Roken reveals that the facility is unshielded since the Inquisitors believed that nobody is stupid enough to attack.

Kenobi proposes using T-47 airspeeders to land at the facility. Sully dismisses the idea since the airspeeders are used for hauling sewage. Kenobi is unwilling to abandon a child and volunteers to go alone. Sully points out that Kenobi is still wounded. Tala volunteers to accompany Kenobi for the rescue mission, using her officer clearance to get him inside Fortress Inquisitorius. Kenobi asks if her cover is still intact, prompting Tala to reply that they will find out soon.

Kenobi and Tala travel on Tala's ship to Nur. During the journey, Kenobi reassures Tala that he will be alright while practising with levitation. Tala says that some things take time to heal. Kenobi responds that some things cannot be forgotten. Tala replies that he has to try since he cares about Leia.

Meanwhile, Reva informs a handcuffed Leia that the Inquisitors intercepted a transmission on Balnab the previous year, which exposed a secret network known as the Path. The Third Sister explains that the Inquisitors uncovered another safehouse in two systems. She seeks Leia's help in locating other members of the Path. When Leia asks how Kenobi died, Reva claims that he was burned to death on Mapuzo. Reva claims that the other members of the Path abandoned Kenobi and offers to let Leia return to her family if she reveals where the Path is. Leia replies that she doesn't know anything about the Path, prompting Reva to reiterate her demand.

Tala's shuttle lands in Fortress Inquisitorius' hangar bay. She mingles among the various Imperial officers and stormtroopers and walks towards a checkpoint. When questioned by the sentries, Tala states that she has a Class C clearance and submits her cylinder. A security officer scans her cylinder but denies her entry on the grounds that she is outside her sector. Tala manages to convince the security officer to permit her entry by threatening to report him to the Grand Inquisitor and claiming that she possesses classified intelligence.

Once inside, she contacts Kenobi, who is swimming in the nearby sea with a breathing apparatus. Tala guides Kenobi towards a port control, which she has overridden. Kenobi swims through the port entry and overpowers a stormtrooper sentry. He then enters the base.

Meanwhile, Reva does a mind probe of Leia, who remains defiant. While Reva is distracted, Leia releases her droid L0-LA59. However, Reva catches the droid. She reveals that she had a droid when she was a younger but that it was taken from her. Elsewhere, Tala relays information about Leia's location within the fortress to Kenobi. Tala is confronted by an Imperial officer, who is suspicious about her presence and ushers her away to verify her identity. Tala leaves her comlink behind, leaving Kenobi to navigate the fortress alone.

Kenobi eludes a patrolling seeker droid and stormtroopers by hiding inside a shaft. After returning to her console, Tala contacts Kenobi with her comlink. This draws the attention of the stormtroopers but the fugitive Jedi uses the Force to distract them. Tala reassures Kenobi that she had some company but that she has eliminated the threat; revealing that she has incapacitated the officer.

Meanwhile, Reva attempts to secure Leia's cooperation by claiming that the people she is trying to protect are not coming for her. Reva tells Leia that she alone can save herself before reiterating her question. Leia pretends to cooperate but asks Reva to promise that nobody will get hurt. She asks Reva if she can ask her father. With Leia unwilling to cooperate, Reva orders the stormtrooper guards to prepare Leia for torture. Leia is defiant and vows not to tell her captors anything.

Elsewhere, Kenobi uses a pass to gain entry into a secure chamber whose doors are marked with red Imperial symbols. He discovers the remains of several fallen Jedi including a youngling. The stormtroopers fasten Leia into a torture harness while Leia cries for help. Reva is determined to extract the information that she believes Leia possesses through torture. As the machine lights up, the Third Sister gives Leia a final chance but she refuses to cooperate.

Sensing Leia is in danger, Kenobi asks Tala to create a distraction. As two needles approach Leia, an officer enters the interrogation chamber with a message from Tala. Reva grants Tala an audience. Tala claims that the Path insurgents operate from Florrum in the Sertar sector using a salvage business as a front. Tala advises the Third Sister to send Imperial forces immediately to crush the network but Reva realizes that she is lying.

Meanwhile, Kenobi shuts down the lights in the interrogation chamber. He takes out both stormtrooper sentries with his lightsaber and frees Leia from the torture harness. Leia is relieved that Kenobi is alive and tells him that she did not tell the Empire anything. Elsewhere, Reva questions how Leia and Kenobi escaped an Imperial checkpoint on Mapuzo. Tala claims that she is an Imperial spy who infiltrated the Path and claims that Kenobi is on Florrum.

Kenobi and Leia are pursued by a seeker droid. As Reva orders her troops to take Tala for interrogation, the fortress's klaxons begin ringing. Kenobi contacts Tala via comlink, inadvertently distracting her stormtrooper captors. This allows Tala to break free and take them out with a blaster. Kenobi uses his lightsaber to take out the pursuing seeker droid and stormtroopers in the fortress' corridors. Kenobi and Leia flee into a tunnel. As Reva, a Purge Trooper, and stormtrooper reinforcements close in on them, Kenobi deflects their blasts, sealing the blast door on their end of the tunnel.

Kenobi uses the Force to delay a cracking window while Tala reunites with Leia. The Purge trooper and stormtroopers force their way through the door and Kenobi releases the broken window, causing the tunnel to flood. The trio escape onto the other side of the tunnel, which they seal temporarily with the blast door. Tala and Kenobi reach the main hangar. Kenobi dons an Imperial greatcoat with Leia hiding underneath.

Meanwhile, the Fifth Brother orders that Fortress Inquisitorius be locked down, blaming the Third Sister for mishandling the situation. He is accompanied by the Fourth Sister. Before Tala, Kenobi and Leia can escape, Reva and several Purge troopers and stormtroopers catch up with them. She denounces Tala as a traitor to the Empire. Tala replies that this was never who she was. Reva then says that they will die for nothing before motioning for the assembled Imperial soldiers to shoot them.

Before the Imperials can carry out their execution, a pair of T-47 airspeeders strafe the Imperial forces on the platform. Tala, Kenobi and Leia take advantage of the chaos to flee. Tala and Kenobi gun down several stormtroopers and a mouse droid during their escape. Sully lands her airspeeder and evacuates Tala, Kenobi and Leia. Reva attempts to pursue them but Wade distracts the Inquisitor by exchanging fire with her. As the airspeeders flee Fortress Inquisitorius, Reva uses the Force to hurl a rectangular explosive at Wade's airspeeder, causing it to explode. Sully is devastated but flies away. The Fifth Brother scowls at the Third Sister before walking away.

Later, a furious Darth Vader meets with the Third Sister, Fourth Sister, and Fifth Brother. He Force chokes Reva and levitates her. Vader wants to kill her for her repeated failures. However, Reva manages to save her life by revealing that she placed a tracker on their ship. She promises that the Empire will soon uncover the location of the Path network and Kenobi. Vader decides to spare Reva.

The Fifth Brother protests, reminding them that the base was almost destroyed. Vader warns Reva that he will not tolerate anymore mistakes. Reva reassures him that the tracker is properly secured and that they will be able to track down the Path fugitives.

Meanwhile, Sully's airspeeder is picked up by a larger ship. Roken asks where is Wade. Sully replies that they are now all soldiers now before sitting to grieve her comrade's passing. Tala offers her a drink while Kenobi sits beside Leia. Leia extends a hand to her rescuer. Leia's droid Lola beeps and glows red.

Summary: Obi-Wan plans his next move as the Empire, closing in, tries to draw him out.

In a flashback scene, Jedi Knight Obi-Wan Kenobi meets with his Padawan Anakin Skywalker for a lightsaber sparring session. Kenobi asks Skywalker if he is ready before the two parry. In the present, an Imperial captain ushers the Third Sister Reva aboard the bridge of his Imperial Star Destroyer Devastator. Dispensing with the pleasantries, Vader demands to know where Kenobi is. Reva reports that they have tracked Kenobi down to Jabiim. Vader expresses satisfaction before ordering her to kneel in the presence of the bridge crew. After promoting Reva to the rank of Grand Inquisitor, he orders the captain to set a course for Jabiim immediately.

Meanwhile, Roken's freight transport descends in Jabiim's atmosphere and lands at the Path's base. Roken disembarks with Kenobi, Princess Leia Organa, Tala Durith, and Sully. Kenobi is surprised to see Haja Estree, who reveals that he fled Daiyu after getting into a fight with the Third Sister. In response, the Galactic Empire had placed a bounty on him, making him a fugitive like the Jedi. Haja hopes to exploit business opportunities on Jabiim.

Kenobi speaks with Roken, telling him that he needs to get Leia back to Alderaan on the transport. Roken explains that the other people in the Path base have been waiting for months. Roken explains that they had been planning to use an old trade route but had delayed the trip in order to rescue Leia. Kenobi promises to do what he can to help while Roken tells the fugitives to get ready to depart.

While Vader's Star Destroyer travels through hyperspace, he issues orders to lock down the Path's base. Reva warns that if they trap them, their opponents can hold out for several days. Vader replies that he does not intend to break their enemies. Meanwhile, the reprogrammed LO-LA59 ("Lola") flies into the base's power plant and hacks into its electrical systems, sealing the hangar roof. Kenobi notices a writing on the wall stating that "light will fade but is never forgotten."

As the hangar roof doors seal, Kenobi discusses the situation with Tala, who believes that Reva has tracked them down to Jabiiim. Kenobi believes that Vader is leading the hunt and plans to attack the Path's base rather than lay siege to them. When Roken asks how he knows Vader's next move, Kenobi experiences a flashback of dueling with Skywalker in a training session. Skywalker advances aggressively on his master, prompting Kenobi to warn him that the Jedi goal is to defend life rather than to kill.

Skywalker ignores Kenobi's warning and advances on him, countering that mercy does not defeat an enemy. As the two cross blades, Skywalker states this is why he is going to lose. In the present, Vader's Star Destroyer dispatches two starships to attack the Path's base. Kenobi addresses the frightened civilians, telling them that he understands their fear and anxiety. Since they are unable to fight the Empire, he states that they will aim to hold off the Empire long enough until they can reopen the hangar roof. Kenobi tasks Roken and his fighters with reopening the facility's hangar roof within an hour and sealing the other entrances.

As Imperial ships descend, the Path defenders get to work in sealing the remaining entrances. The Imperial ships dispatch a landing party of stormtroopers and elite Purge Troopers, who surround the facility. Several stormtroopers assemble heavy guns. The Imperial troops are joined by Reva, who arrives in the shuttle Scythe. She orders them to bombard the outer doors. Tala urges Roken to work on reopening the hangar roof but they encounter difficulties. Haja suggests that Roken and his men enter the vents to investigate what is obstructing the hangar roof but Roken replies that he is too big. Leia volunteers with Kenobi advising her to be careful. He also tells Haja to keep an eye on her while she climbs the ladder.

Kenobi leaves to listen to a message left by Senator Bail Organa on his portable holoprojector. In private, Kenobi sees that Organa is worried by the lack of communication. Organa fears that Vader has found Kenobi or learned about the children, and if he does not hear from Kenobi soon, he will travel to Tatooine to protect Owen Lars and Luke Skywalker. Following the transmission, Kenobi reassures Tala that he will be alright. Tala confides that she took part in an operation to round up four Force-sensitive families on Garel under the cover of arresting people for tax evasion. Tala was traumatized by the death of 14 people including six children at the hands of the Inquisitors. Tala resolves to make amends for her wrongdoings by helping to fight off the Imperial besiegers.

With the outer doors buckling under pressure, Kenobi tells the defenders that he will buy them time by parleying with the Third Sister. During a ceasefire, Reva warns the fugitive Jedi that his stalling attempt will not stop Vader's advance. Kenobi questions how she knows about Vader's identity as Anakin since he believes she was too young to have known him. Kenobi deduces that Reva was a youngling who witnessed Skywalker leading the attack on the Jedi Temple on the night of Order 66. Reva is haunted by her memories of Skywalker killing her fellow younglings. She says that she believed that Vader was there to help them and was shocked when he murdered her Jedi "family." Reva reveals that she survived by playing dead.

Kenobi realizes that Reva is planning to kill Vader and asks her to work with him. Reva is distrustful of Kenobi and questions his desire to kill Vader, pointing out that Kenobi was not there to protect her and the other Jedi at the Temple. Reva points out that Skywalker was Kenobi's Padawan and asks why he did not stop him when he had the chance. Reva rejects Kenobi's offer of help and believes that she will triumph over her enemies alone. The Third Sister uses her lightsaber to cut her way through the metal gate.

However, Kenobi uses the Force to hurl her back. A gun battle breaks out between Reva's stormtroopers and the Path fighters. Reva orders her troops to storm the breach in the Path's facility. Path fighters including Tala and the loader droid NED-B shoot at the advancing Imperials. Kenobi also joins the fight with lightsaber and strikes down a Purge trooper. Through sheer weight of numbers, the Imperials advance into the Path's facility.

Meanwhile, Haja tells Leia that she is looking for a red breaker. Tala and the Path fighters retreat deeper into the base while Kenobi helps a wounded woman to safety. NED-B also fights several stormtroopers. He manages to hurl two aside. Tala is also hit and falls to the ground. Kenobi attempts to assist her and strikes down several stormtroopers with his lightsaber. NED-B carries the wounded Tala to safety before using his body as a shield against the stormtroopers' blaster bolts. Tala tells Kenobi to retreat before activating a detonator. Kenobi is distraught but seals the inner blast door. Tala blows herself up, delaying the Imperial advance.

Kenobi and the surviving fighters retreat to the inner sanctum of the base only to find that Leia is still trying to open the hangar roof. The Imperial captain informs Lord Vader that Reva has breached the inner sanctum. Vader tells the Captain to order Reva to stand down, believing that Kenobi is in their grasp. In a flashback scene, Skywalker drives to Kenobi to the edge of the balcony and tells his master to admit that he is beaten.

Believing they have lost, Kenobi wants to go back and surrender to Lord Vader. Roken objects, telling Kenobi that Tala's sacrifice would have been in vain. Kenobi is determined to stop Lord Vader's advance in order to save the fugitives inside. Kenobi asks Haja to look after Leia. Roken asks Kenobi how he is going to fight Vader without a weapon, prompting Kenobi to reply that there are other ways to fight. Kenobi walks out of the second blast door and surrenders to the Imperials. He is arrested by two stormtroopers. Other stormtroopers evacuate their wounded and fallen comrades.

While Leia searches through the cables and wires for the red breaker, Lola watches her menacingly. Kenobi is brought to a triumphant Reva, who orders her troops to inform Lord Vader of their capture. Reva informs Kenobi that Lord Vader is on his way. Kenobi counters that he is bringing him to her rather than other way round. He asks Reva if she is going to let Lord Vader slaughter more civilians including children and reiterates his offer to stop Vader again. When Reva asks if he won't see it coming, Kenobi replies that Vader will be too fixated on him.

Two stormtroopers escort Kenobi inside the base. Back in the flashback, Kenobi manages to break out of the corner that Skywalker has maneuvered him into. The two resume their fight but Skywalker still manages to knock the lightsaber out of Kenobi's hand. Kenobi warns his Padawan that his need for victory blinds him. Back in the present, Vader arrives outside the Path fortress and meets with Reva, demanding to know where Kenobi is. She tells her master that Kenobi is inside but Vader is determined to bring Kenobi in himself.

Meanwhile, Kenobi breaks free of his stormtrooper captors and flees deeper into the Path's facility. While searching for the red breaker, Leia is attacked by the reprogrammed Lola. Leia sees that a restraining bolt has been attached to Lola and frees her droid, freeing her of the Imperial programming. Vader enters the base in pursuit of Kenobi while Leia and Lola work together to open the roof doors. Sully leads the refugees aboard their ship while Kenobi reunites with Leia. Leia learns that Tala did not survive.

While Leia and Kenobi head for their transport, Vader forces his way inside the hangar bay. He uses the Force to grab Roken's freighter, preventing the ship from ascending and forcing it to the ground. He rips the ship apart only to find that it is an empty decoy. The Path fighters and refugees escape on a second freighter while Vader watches in fury. Back in the past, Kenobi breaks free of Skywalker in the sparring match and uses the Force to grab his Padawan's lightsaber. Kenobi tells Skywalker that he is a great warrior but that his need to prove himself is his undoing. Kenobi counsels Skywalker to overcome this desire in order to progress from being a Padawan.

Back in the present Reva attempts to stab Vader with her lightsaber but he uses the Force to block her blade. Vader surmises that Kenobi was wise to use the Third Sister against him. He hurls Reva aside. Reva charges but Vader uses the Force to deflect her lightsaber and hurls her to the ground multiple times. Reva activates her lightsaber's twin blade spinning mode but is no match for Vader's mastery of the dark side. Vader uses the Force to split her lightsaber in half. Reva continues fighting with her remaining lightsaber but the Sith Lord grabs both and gains the upper hand over her.

Reva is haunted by memories of Vader killing her fellow younglings. Lord Vader stabs Reva through the torso with a lightsaber and chides her failed assassination attempts. As the revived Grand Inquisitor and several stormtroopers join them, Vader says that the Third Sister is of no use to him. The Grand Inquisitor greets the Third Sister, stating that revenge can fuel the will to live. He tells her that her rage was useful but has now become tiresome. The Grand Inquisitor and Vader abandon Reva, leaving her to tend to her wounds.

Aboard Roken's ship, Kenobi and Leia sit among the refugees. Roken tells them the ship's hyperdrive is not working and that the Empire is still pursuing them. Back on Jabiiim, Reva reaches for her double-bladed spinning lightsaber and eyes Kenobi's holoprojector. Watching the holoprojector's hologram, Reva intercepts Organa's message and learns that Anakin Skywalker has a son on Tatooine. Kenobi realizes his holoprojector is missing but tells Roken that nothing is wrong. On Tatooine, the young Luke Skywalker sleeps in his bed at the Lars Homestead.

Summary:	Obi-Wan is drawn into a confrontation with Vader, as Luke's fate hangs in the balance.

In Mos Eisley on Tatooine, the foreman Groff Ditcher jumps a queue outside a beverages stall. The former Inquisitor, Reva pushes the man aside and asks the vendor about a farmer named Owen Lars.

Meanwhile in space, Darth Vader's Imperial Star Destroyer Devastator pursues Kawlan Roken's freight transport. Roken informs the passengers that the hyperdrive is almost ready and orders that power be redirected to the rear deflector shields. Their plan is to travel to Tessen. In private, Roken confides with Obi-Wan Kenobi that the ship's motivator is damaged and they are running out of time. Princess Leia Organa uses her droid LO-LA59 (Lola) to comfort Corran and his mother. Kenobi has an idea and asks Leia if he could borrow her droid.

Back on Tatooine, Luke Skywalker and his uncle Owen Lars visit a mechanic to obtain a new belt for their landspeeder. A human man named Dardin Shull speaks to Owen, telling him that there is something he needs to know. Back on Roken's ship, Leia is upset about about Kenobi's plan to leave them in order to draw Lord Vader away. Corran's mother reminds him about staying together. Kenobi pleads with Roken, Leia, and the other passengers to consider his plan. He convinces Haja Estree to look after Leia in his absence.

Owen Lars and Luke return to the Lars homestead. Owen tells his wife Beru Whitesun Lars that Reva is coming for Luke and that they need to flee with Luke. Beru refuses to leave and convinces her husband that they should stand and fight. The two retrieve hidden blasters from their home.

Aboard Roken's ship, Haja has spoken with Leia and gives Kenobi space to talk to her. While Leia is upset that Kenobi won't be coming home with her, she reluctantly accepts Kenobi's decision. Kenobi tells Leia to tell her father Senator Bail Prestor Organa about his efforts to rescue her. Kenobi also hands Leia the late Tala Durith's empty gun holster as a parting present. The two embrace and Leia tells Kenobi to come back. Before leaving, he resolves to face Vader one more time, even if it leads to his death.

As Kenobi heads to the drop ship, Roken tries to reason with him again, saying that they can fix the hyperdrive. Roken accepts Kenobi's decision, realizing that the Jedi has unfinished business with Lord Vader. Before leaving, Kenobi tells Roken that the Rebellion needs more leaders like him. Kenobi flies the drop ship out of Roken's freighter, drawing the attention of the Imperials, who detect one lifeform aboard. The Grand Inquisitor counsels Lord Vader to continue their pursuit of The Path's ship, opining that they should not prioritize one Jedi. Vader counters that this is no ordinary Jedi before ordering the Devastator to pursue Kenobi's ship.

At the Lars homestead, the Lars family prepares to face Reva. Owen warns Luke that the Tusken Raiders are going to attack their farm. While they plan to stay and fight, he warns Luke to run if anything goes wrong. Owen and Beru reassure their adopted son that things will be fine. Meanwhile, Kenobi flies his starship to a rocky moon covered with rocky pinnacles. Vader orders his crew to prepare his shuttle and vows to face Kenobi alone. As Vader flies down to the moon to face his former master, Kenobi leaves Lola inside the ship's cockpit.

While Reva approaches the perimeter of the Lars homestead, Vader lands his shuttle on the barren moon. Vader finds Kenobi nearby and asks if he has come to destroy him. Kenobi replies that he will do as he must before igniting his lightsaber. Vader vows that Kenobi will die and the two engage in a lightsaber duel.

Reva enters the inner courtyard of the Lars homestead and ignites her lightsaber. Owen and Beru open fire on Reva, blasting her. Reva deflects their blasts with the lightsaber. Meanwhile, Kenobi and Vader continue fighting on the rocky moon. Kenobi attempts to collapse a pinnacle on Vader, who notices that his strength has returned. Vader uses the Force to hurl part of the monolith back at Kenobi before the two cross blades. Vader uses the Force to cause the ground beneath Kenobi to collapse. He then attempts to bury his former master under the rocks. Believing himself victorious, Vader taunts Kenobi for thinking he could defeat him.

Back at the Lars homestead, Reva corners Owen and disarms him. She senses through the Force that Owen loves Luke as his own, prompting Owen to state his love for his adopted son. When Owen asks what Reva wants, she replies that she wants justice. Owen attacks Reva with a metal stick but she breaks it with her lightsaber and tosses him off a bridge onto the ground. Beru tries to block Reva from entering the building but she pushes her aside. Luke flees through an opening in the roof and flees into the desert. Reva pursues Luke into the desert.

On the rocky moon, Kenobi is haunted by memories of his previous fights with Lord Vader. However, he focuses on memories of Luke and Leia, which he uses to scatter the rocks and debris pinning him down. As Vader heads back towards his starship, Kenobi attacks his former Padawan and two engage in a lightsaber duel. Kenobi uses the Force to hurl Vader against a rock before pummeling him with rocks. Kenobi then resumes his lightsaber duel with Vader.

Back on Tatooine, Luke flees into Beggar's Canyon with Reva hot in pursuit. Meanwhile, Kenobi damages Vader's armor and life support system with his lightsaber and rocks. After overpowering Lord Vader, Kenobi deals a decisive strike upon his helmet, damaging his mask and exposing the left side of his scarred face. Kenobi addresses him as Anakin Skywalker, prompting Vader to respond that Anakin is gone and that he is all that remains. Kenobi is visibly heartbroken, and tearfully apologizes to Anakin.

Vader replies that he is not his failure and that Kenobi did not kill Anakin. With a feral smile, Vader replies that he killed Anakin and vows to destroy Kenobi as well. Kenobi swallows his anguish, and coldly responds that his friend is truly dead before bidding the Darth farewell. As Kenobi leaves, Vader calls out to him while rising to his feet. He screams Kenobi's name in fruitless anguish once again as Kenobi icily departs the rocky moon in his starship.

Elsewhere, Reva uses the Force to dislodge the rock that Luke is standing on, knocking him unconscious. While traveling through hyperspace, Kenobi senses Luke is in danger. Reva attempts to kill Luke with her lightsaber but is haunted by flashbacks of the Great Jedi Purge and Darth Vader. She also sees a vision of her younger self in the place of Luke.

Kenobi lands near the Lars homestead and finds Owen and Beru searching frantically for Luke. Reva approaches them while carrying the unconscious Skywalker. As she lays Skywalker down, the boy begins stirring much to the relief of Owen and Beru. While the Lars carrying their adopted son to safety, Kenobi faces Reva. Reva tells him that she could not kill Skywalker and that she failed to avenge her fellow younglings' deaths at the hands of Lord Vader.

Kenobi reassures Reva that she has not failed, stating that she has brought peace and honor by showing mercy. He also tells Reva that she has not fallen to the dark side and adds that she is free to choose her own destiny. Reva sheds tears before laying down her Double-bladed spinning lightsaber. Kenobi helps Reva to her feet and reassures her that they are both free.

At Fortress Vader, the repaired Darth Vader informs Darth Sidious that he has dispatched probe droids to hunt down Kenobi. The Emperor notices that Vader is agitated and questions whether his apprentice is affected by his feelings for his former master. Vader responds that Kenobi means nothing and reaffirms his loyalty to his Sith Master. Vader sits on his throne.

On Alderaan, Princess Leia dresses and combs her own hair. Bheha Organa is surprised and delighted to see her daughter sporting her holster. She joins her parents in receiving a guest who has arrived in a starship. Leia tells Bail that she has discovered other ways to lead but says that she would like to change some things. Bail invites her to work together to change things.

Leia is delighted to see Kenobi and her droid Lola. Kenobi embraces Leia and her parents. While Bail says that they can never repay him, Kenobi reassures them that she has already done that. Bail expresses concerns about the growing might of the Galactic Empire. Kenobi tells them that they can count on him. Leia asks Kenobi what he should do now. Kenobi decides he should rest after their adventures.

Kenobi tells Leia that she is wise, discerning, and kindhearted, which he describes as qualities from her mother. He also describes Leia as passionate, fearless, and forthright, which he attributes to her father. He tells Leia that her parents were exceptional people who bore an exceptional daughter. Before departing, Kenobi tells Leia that she can turn to him for help but stresses the need to be careful. Leia and her adoptive parents watch as Kenobi departs on his ship.

Back on Tatooine, Kenobi departs his cave with a toy in his rucksack. He rides on an eopie towards the Lars homestead, where Luke is playing. Owen asks what Kenobi is doing here. Kenobi accepts that Luke should be allowed to grow up like any ordinary boy. He also allows Owen to remain Luke's protector, which he vows to. Owen allows Kenobi to meet Luke. After meeting Luke, Kenobi rides back on his eopie into the desert.

While approaching Beggar's Canyon, Kenobi is greeted by the Force ghost of his late Master Qui-Gon Jinn. Kenobi is surprised to see his former master but Qui-Gon replies that he was just not ready to see. Qui-Gon says that he still has some distance to travel before the two continue their journey through Beggar's Canyon.
