A Celestial Event

Season 1

Episode Number: 1

Season Episode: 1

Originally aired:	Thursday July 17, 2025
Writer:	Mark L. Smith, Elle Smith
Director:	Thomas Bezucha
Show Stars:	Eric Bana (Kyle Turner), Sam Neill (Paul Souter), Rosemarie DeWitt (Jill Bodwin), Lily Santiago (Naya Vasquez), Wilson Bethel (Shane Maguire)
Guest Stars:	William Smillie (Bruce Milch), Josh Randall (Scott Bodwin), Raoul Trujillo (Jay Stewart), Ezra Franky (Lucy Cook), Joe Holt (Lawrence Hamilton), Omi Fitzpatrick-Gonzales (Gael Vasquez), Ezra Wilson (Caleb Turner), Iris Quinn (Mary Souter), Julianna Alarcon (Sadie Souter), Zak Santiago (Chuck Edmund), Jason Burkart (Wiseman), Adrian Persad (Belay), Ellexis Wejr (Taylor Bodwin), Colton Belley (Lead Climber), Sonja Kathleen Perperidis (Rachel Bodwin)
Summary:	When a woman fatally falls from El Capitan, special agent Kyle Turner suspects it wasn't an accident — and that the truth may lie deep within Yosemite.

The episode starts with two rock climbers working their way up a sharp ravine. Suddenly, a woman comes crashing towards them. Her body gets caught in their line, and they nearly fall. Thankfully, their quick thinking and expertise save them.

Elsewhere, we are introduced to Kyle, who is with his son as he checks out a likely bear poaching case. His son asks if they can go swimming, but Kyle gets a call. He apologises to his son and leaves to check out the crime scene.

At the scene, the rangers are able to save the two rock climbers. One of them, Milch, is unhappy to see Kyle turn up. He tells Maya that Kyle is from the Investigative Service Branch and is technically their boss. Milch takes offence when Kyle starts questioning the witness instead of asking the rangers first.

After the witnesses report that they saw and heard nothing, Kyle decides to drop down the ravine and check out the body.

He notices some odd wounds on the victim, including a bracelet that falls off after he touches it. Afterwards, he takes pictures of the body. Unfortunately, since there is a storm coming, Kyle wants to bring up the body immediately.

With time running out, the team recovers the body and assesses the wounds. It looks like Jane Doe was attacked by coyotes. It is also possible she was running from something. Kyle checks the grounds and finds bloody hand and footprints.

Later, the medical examiner examines the body and explains that it will be hard to determine the manner of death. Jane Doe's body went through a lot. He also notices the golden X tattoo on her arm. Although it looks like Jane Doe was running barefoot from coyotes, Kyle thinks there is more to it than that.

At the office, Souter asks Kyle to try to play nice with the other rangers. He warns Kyle to go easy on the bourbon, too. As they talk, Lawrence joins them. He is angry that the news of Jane Doe's death has reached the media.

He's worried that an animal attack would scare people away and lead to bankruptcy. Kyle doesn't care since he is not under Lawrence's department. Lawrence also wants Kyle to get back to Sanderman's lawyer. Sanderman went missing five years ago, and his lawyer has been trying to reach out to Kyle with no response.

Later that night, Kyle takes his horse to search for Jane Doe's bracelet. He then calls his ex-wife, Jill, to remind her about the meteor shower on Thursday. Jill is displeased to get the call at 2 am and worries since Kyle is drunk.

The following morning, Naya drops by Kyle's house. She explains that Souter sent her to help Kyle with the Jane Doe case. Kyle doesn't buy her explanation, but lets her into the house. Naya notices that most of Kyle's belongings are in a box. She wonders whether he is moving in or out. She spots a picture of Kyle's son and reveals she has a four-year-old son, too.

Back to the case, she tells him that Jane Doe's prints didn't get a hit on their system. This means they have yet to identify her. Kyle believes Jane Doe seems familiar and asks Naya to check the employees' records at the park. Since they are partnered up, Kyle insists they take the horses, much to Naya's chagrin. They ride the horses, trying to pick up Jane Doe's trail. Luckily, Kyle knows the park like the back of his hand.

Their search leads them to an old hunting shack. There, they find more bloody hands and footprints. They also find some strange carvings on the wooden walls. As they search, a bear nearly attacks Naya, but Kyle scares it away.

Later, they come across a bloody shoe and collect it as evidence. Deeper in the woods, they find more blood and a bullet stuck in the woods. This leads them to believe that Jane Doe was shot. A quick call to the medical examiner confirms that Jane Doe was shot in her left foot.

Kyle and Naya realise that Jane Doe was not only running away from the coyotes, and for now, he asks Naya to keep their findings to themselves. After returning home, Kyle finds Jill waiting for him. She expresses her concern about his late-night drunk calls.

Kyle denies he is in trouble and asks if Jill's new husband is a good father. The conversation turns to Jane Doe's case, and Jill offers to help with his theories.

Later, Jill calls Souter and shares her concern about Kyle. Souter invites her to a party at his house later that weekend. He also mentions that their granddaughter is currently living with them since her mom got into trouble.

Back at Kyle's house, he watches his son draw and realises Jill helped him rearrange the words on Jane Doe's bracelet. This gives him a lead, and it turns out that the bracelet is a park freebie.

At Naya's house, she hangs out with her kid and complains about her backache. Riding horses is not for the weak! The following day, Kyle updates her on the bracelet lead and asks her to follow up.

Based on the wall carvings, Kyle believes they need to look at natives as well. He takes a ride to meet with the native chief to ask about Jane Doe. Sadly, the chief knows nothing.

In the evening, Naya is still searching the database, looking for a lead. Her ex sends her a message, reminding her that he can't keep him away from his child forever. This message throws Naya into a panic. At Kyle's house, his son asks to watch the meteor shower. At Jill's house, she watches the meteor shower and cries.

In a shocking twist, we see Souter telling his granddaughter about Kyle's son, Caleb. Kyle's son died years ago. The scene cuts to Kyle talking to Caleb as they watch the meteor shower. However, when the chief drops by, we see Kyle is by himself.

Kyle asks the chief to read the sky. The chief says that it is a sign that death is back, and the bodies will fall like the stars in the sky.

Summary:	The mystery around Jane Doe deepens as Turner and Vasquez investigate a strange symbol and visit a remote encampment in the woods.

The episode starts with a flashback to the day Jane Doe got shot. Her bag ripped, causing some medicine bottles to drop. She picked them up but missed one. She then hid a bag in an abandoned ice cooler and started walking. Out of nowhere, a stray bullet hits her.

Presently, a reporter announces that the investigation into Jane Doe is still ongoing. The reporter also brings up another investigation. People are still looking for answers in the case of Sean Sanderson, a businessman who went missing.

In the park, Kyle comes across more clues and finds the medicine bottle Jane Doe accidentally left behind. He notes that the cap has a golden X sign, similar to the tattoo on Jane Doe's body. At the office, Souter talks to Naya, curious about how she and her son are adjusting to their new surroundings. He also wants the tea about Kyle and how their partnership is working out.

Naya mentions the bracelet, and Souter takes her to the storage room, where there is an entire box of similar bracelets. The discovery disappoints Naya, as it implies anyone could have given Jane Doe the bracelet. Turner calls her for an update and insists she keep following the lead.

Kyle drives to town to talk to Teddy, a drug user who might have a lead on the medicine bottle and tattoo. Sadly, Teddy has no idea but promises to ask around. Kyle takes Teddy's stash and promises to return it if he gets him a lead.

Later, he drops by a local hotel to study the carvings, which look similar to the drawings on the walls he found. It seems he has a complicated relationship with Lana at the front desk.

At the hotel, he runs into Souter, who invites him for lunch. Souter brings up the case and asks Kyle to consider taking a different job. It seems Jill talked to Souter about her concerns for Kyle. The midnight calls have been worrying her. Souter is also worried about Kyle, but the latter insists he's fine.

After lunch, Kyle calls Jill and asks her not to worry anymore. He promises to stop the midnight calls.

Kyle drives back to his cabin only to find a lawyer waiting for him. The lawyer, Esther, is representing Sanderson's family, who are suing the park for wrongful death. Sanderson went missing five years ago, and Esther has questions about Kyle's involvement in the case. In particular, she is concerned about his state of mind at the time of the investigation.

It turns out Sean disappeared a few months after Caleb's death. Kyle tries to answer Esther's questions professionally. The questions trigger his memories of loss and how he found Caleb's body floating in a river.

Naya drops by to inform that the toxicology on Jane Doe came back clean. Kyle invites her to join him and takes her to the squatters' group. Unfortunately, the squatters refuse to cooperate even though one of them looks like she knows something. Kyle also asks about Abuelo.

Abuelo is more of a drug peddler than the shaman he claims to be. Sadly, Abuelo is on one of his 'spiritual' walks to find his centre! However, one of the squatters mentions that a ranger named Deniro dropped by the previous day looking for Abuelo, too.

After striking out at the squatters' camp, Kyle and Naya separate to follow different leads. Naya loses the horse and is late picking up her son. The babysitter mentions that Gael's dad called, causing Naya to leave her ex a message, warning him to stay away.

In the meantime, Kyle tracks down Shane, a wildlife biologist. Shane has been looking for Abuelo, too. He believes there is a link between Abuelo and the sick deer. As Kyle asks more questions about Jane Doe, Shane clams up, saying he knows nothing.

Kyle cleverly manages to fire Shane's gun and collect the bullet. He is hoping to run ballistics and compare the bullet to the one linked to Jane Doe's case. Kyle drops by the lab and begs Marlon to run the test and share the results only with him.

Back in town, Teddy visits a tattoo shop to ask about the gold tattoo. The tattoo artist, Linson, insists that there is no such thing as a gold tattoo and kicks him out. Another guy listens to their conversation.

Once Teddy leaves, Linson texts him. He asks Teddy to drop the issue, as nothing good will come of it. Sadly, later that night, Teddy is attacked and strangled in his car.

The following day, the rangers attend Souter and Mary's 40th wedding anniversary. Milch tells Naya all about Caleb's death and how grief changed Kyle. It turns out a pervert took Caleb when he strayed from his group during a group hike.

Unfortunately, they never found the guy. Grief led Kyle to hit the bottle hard, and if it were not for Souter, he would have lost his badge. Simultaneously, Kyle is jealous of Jill's new husband. It is also hard for him to see Gael, as the boy reminds him of Caleb. He checks out of the party early.

Elsewhere in the park, a group of young people goes swimming. One of them comes across Teddy's body.

Meanwhile, Kyle continues to follow Jane Doe's trail and comes across her footprint in the forest. He gets a call informing him of Teddy's death. Kyle drives to the crime scene and whilst there, Naya calls to inform him she has found Jane Doe.

Thanks to her investigation, she discovered that Jane Doe was a young child who went missing years ago.

Summary: Jane Doe's identity raises new questions about the life she left behind — and connects to an old case that has haunted Turner for years.

The episode starts with a flashback of a young Lucy painting rocks with her sick mother. Her mom tries to explain the concept of death to her. Lucy opts to hang back and finish painting the rocks when her mom heads back to the house. A few minutes later, someone familiar approaches Lucy.

Presently, we learn that Lucy was reported missing back in 2010 when she was only seven. It was Kyle's case, and he was sure Rory, Lucy's dad, had killed her. Unfortunately, Kyle couldn't prove it.

Rory moved to Fresno a few years later and was attacked and beaten to death. The only lead they have now is James Cook, Lucy's stepbrother.

Meanwhile, Kyle asks for Teddy's phone data. On his way out of the office, he finds Jill in his car. She offers him a list of park employees she remembers. He tells her that they ID'd Jane Doe. The conversation turns to how Jill is still broken and unhappy. She is grieving her son and remembers little mundane things she used to do with Caleb.

Kyle brings up Sean's lawyer visit, and Jill asks if there has been a new lead. Unfortunately, there have been none.

The lab report on the pills found on Lucy comes back positive for a mixture of several drugs. Kyle asks Lucy to reach out to the Mariposa PD to see if they know more. On the ride to James' place, Naya tries to bring up Caleb, but Kyle turns the radio up.

At James' place, Kyle asks Naya to wait for him outside. He goes in, but James spots him and makes a run for it. Thankfully, Naya saves Kyle before James lunges at him with a metal rod. James mistakes them for loan sharks. They take him back to the apartment, but it soon becomes clear that James knows nothing about Lucy. He didn't even know she was alive.

With no leads to follow, Naya and Kyle try to remain helpful. On their ride back, Kyle brings up Naya's reason for leaving L.A. As we suspected, it had something to do with her ex. Kyle also opens up to Naya about his childhood at a ranch. The conversation helps them get closer.

Upon getting to the office, they find Lawrence giving a press conference about Teddy. Kyle's mood changes, and he ignores Naya's request to return to the Squatters' village. After the press conference, Lawrence lashes out at Kyle for always keeping information to himself. Lawrence wants Kyle transferred and has started working on it. Souter agrees that Lawrence has been patient with Kyle.

Kyle pulls Souter aside and reveals that he thinks the cases are linked. He also believes Lucy was murdered. Souter questions if they have a serial killer on their hands, but Kyle tells him it is not likely. He wonders if he failed Lucy fifteen years ago. On his ride back home, Kyle hallucinates Caleb again.

That night, he visits the hotel and sleeps with Lana. He confesses his suicidal tendencies, and she offers to help him.

The following day, Kyle takes Chief and drops by Lucy's old house. The owner denies seeing Lucy around but later tells Chief he saw a young lady at the ridge near his home. He also gives Chief Maggie's old belongings that the family left behind.

Chief questions why Kyle is dedicated to the case. Kyle remains elusive and asks about the carvings. The chief claims that the carvings are meant to keep evil spirits away.

Elsewhere, Esther gets on Jill's nerves when she drops by to ask about Sean's case. Jill keeps her cool, but hearing about her son's death triggers her.

In the meantime, Naya takes Kyle's horse and heads to the forest. Shane spots her on his daily runs. Naya heads deeper into the woods, following Lucy's trail. She comes across a cave, finds an oxygen mask, and decides to investigate. Unfortunately, she falls through an empty well.

Back in town, Kyle gets Teddy's phone data and confronts Linson. The visit proves to be a dead end as Linson likes to mind his business.

Upon getting home, Kyle notices his horse is missing. Back in the cave, Naya tries to find her way out and gets stuck. Kyle finds her before she drowns and convinces her to calm down and pull herself out. Thanks to Kyle, Naya makes it back home to her son. On the other hand, Jill locks herself in the bathroom and contemplates calling Kyle.

In another flashback, we see young Lucy locking herself in her room to keep her stepdad out. Someone comes through the window, and she sweetly greets him.

Summary:	A grim discovery in the mines makes Turner question the squatters' role in the case. Vasquez fights to protect her son when his father reappears.

The episode starts with a flashback of Lucy revisiting her old home. She is wearing her mom's yellow dress and is startled when a man asks if she needs help. She runs off and changes her outfit. As she was about to leave, her friend asked her to stop assisting the wrong people. Lucy simply shrugged and went to the caves.

Presently, Naya and Kyle continue investigating the caves. They head back to see what they can find. This time, they find Abuelo's lower jaw. A deeper investigation leads them to Abuelo's body.

Based on Abuelo's body, it looks like he was killed roughly a week ago.

Kyle goes back to the squatter village and informs Gloria of Abuelo's death. The news does not sadden Gloria since he was her ex. Kyle brings in more rangers to search the squatter's belongings and bring them in for questioning. Summer sees the rangers and hides behind a tree.

Meanwhile, Kyle tells Souter that the cases are all connected. They find drugs among the squatters' belongings. Gloria, hardened by the world, refuses to talk. The rangers start running background checks on the other squatters. Lucy's DNA results come back and prove Rory was not her biological father. Kyle wonders if Lucy's mom had an affair. He insists on investigating, but Souter says it won't help much.

A kid drops by the office and asks to talk to Kyle. The young man believes he knew Lucy when she was a teenager. He thinks Lucy is Grace McRay. According to him, Lucy/ Grace lived with a pastor's family back in Nevada. He last saw her ten years ago, and the Gibbs family reported that she had reunited with her family.

The young man gives Kyle a picture of Lucy at the church. Afterwards, he asks about the reward money.

In the meantime, Naya finds Summer and asks her about Lucy. Summer mentions Lucy has a boyfriend, whom she referred to as Terces. Lucy kept a lot of secrets, but the relationship changed her. She started selling drugs for her secret boyfriend. Sometimes, Lucy returned home all beaten up. She and Pakuna were close to Abuelo. Summer also adds that she saw Lucy on the day she died, right before she went on her usual swap at a nearby gulch.

Naya briefs Kyle on her latest findings after talking to Summer. They agree to take a helicopter the next day and search the east side. Naya also goes through Lucy's bag. Later, Kyle does the same and notices a picture of Lucy with a man's hand on her shoulder. Unfortunately, the man's face is cropped out.

At night, Kyle drops by Shane's favourite bar and asks about Abuelo and the drug ring. Kyle assumes Shane was in the drug business. Shane admits that once in a while, he got paid to look the other way. Other than that, he has no idea who is running the show.

Shane brings up Lucy's case and mocks Kyle for failing to save Lucy. He also brings up Esther, Sean's lawyer, and implies Kyle might be involved in Sean's disappearance. Souter arrives in time to take Kyle away. He warns Kyle that if he does not stop drinking, he will lose his badge. Souter worries that Kyle is torturing himself with his cases and Caleb's death.

At Naya's house, she gets a sudden visit from her ex. He demands to spend the night and reunite with Naya and Gael. He insists that Naya must return to L. A with him and cover for him about a case. He is currently on leave pending an investigation into missing money. He wants Naya to lie and clear his name.

Naya refuses but agrees to let him spend the night. She sneaks out with Gael and drives to Kyle's house. She comes clean about her situation and the restraining order she has against him.

Kyle agrees to let them stay over for the night. He allows Gael to play with everything except Caleb's toys. The following morning, Jill offers to babysit Gael while Kyle and Naya work. Kyle asks Milch to turn Pakuna loose and send him back to the empty squatter village.

They secretly follow Pakuna to the caves and the drug ring leader. It turns out the gang executed Abuelo for betraying them. The episode ends with Naya and Kyle bringing Pakuna in.

Summary:	Turner takes the investigation to new extremes — with serious repercussions. Jill gets caught up in Vasquez's conflict with her ex.

The episode starts with the rangers launching an operation to catch the drug dealers in the cave. Kyle nearly loses his life when a bomb goes off. The operation is successful, but the team loses a few officers. Thankfully, they manage to get the ringleader and bring him in for questioning. They find more dead bodies of women and Lucy's bag.

Instead of going to the hospital, Kyle has Jill tend to his wounds. Kyle is disturbed by the fact that none of the drug dealers are admitting to Lucy's death. He wants to investigate, and Jill offers to babysit Gael. Kyle and Naya return to the office and grill the suspects again. None of them admits to killing Lucy. Some of them have never even met her.

Lawrence holds a press conference and basks in the success of the mission. Kyle tells Souter and Naya that he is uncertain about Lucy's death. Later, Kyle asks another officer to run ballistics on the guns found in the cave. Naya and Kyle retrace Lucy's trail to solve the mystery.

The investigation takes them to the east side of the wood, near Souter's house. While there, Kyle sees the Chief. The Chief is offended that Kyle forgot he had mentioned he had moved. Kyle turns the conversation back to Lucy. Chief is surprised since he thought the case was closed.

At home, Naya's ex attacks Jill in an attempt to take Gael. Jill fights back, and Kyle and Naya arrive in time to save them. Naya's ex is arrested, and Naya thanks Jill for saving her son. However, Jill later confesses to Kyle that she felt jealous when Naya took Gael from her arms. She wonders if Caleb's loss brought out the worst in her. Kyle says nothing, but as she leaves, he assures her she is a good mom.

'Shortly after, Scott calls Kyle and informs him Jill tried to take her life. Kyle rushes to the hospital, and Jill apologises. Scott asks Kyle to help Jill move past the pain. Kyle storms out of the hospital and attacks Shane at a bar. He pulls a gun on Shane and tells the latter that he should have rejected Jill's request.

The following morning, Souter helps Kyle nurse his hangover before reporting to work. At the office, Lawrence happily informs Kyle that he is suspended. He asks Kyle to transfer all his cases to Agent Dixon. According to Lawrence, Kyle's time at the park is done.

Kyle returns home and talks to the Chief. The man tells Kyle that he will always carry Caleb with him wherever he is. Agent Dixon arrives shortly after to pick up all the case files. Kyle gives him everything except Lucy's bag.

As it turns out, Kyle finds Lucy's phone hidden in the bag. He charges it and visits the morgue. At the morgue, he uses face recognition to unlock Lucy's phone.

He finds a few videos Lucy took before her death. One of the videos has Shane in it. Kyle leaves Lucy's phone inside his truck and calls Naya to come get it. He also tells her that if he is not back by the next 24 hours, it must be because something happened with Shane.

Afterwards, he calls his wife and apologises to her. He mentions he is going after Shane, and he assumed Shane would talk about Sean. Jill says it might be a good thing and asks him to be careful.

In the woods, Kyle finds Shane's tent and discovers a bag with drugs. Before he can call it in, Shane shoots him in the abdomen. Caleb's ghost appears and warns Kyle that Shane is coming.

Summary:	As the investigation comes to a close, Turner discovers the truth about Lucy's death — and the long-buried secrets that set it in motion.

The episode starts with Shane hunting an injured Kyle throughout the woods. Kyle tries to treat his wounds as he keeps going. Back at his house, Naya drops by to check on him. She keeps calling him but gets the voicemail every time.

Their little hunting game goes on for hours. Kyle keeps moving, but by night-fall, he has lost too much blood. Shane corners him and is about to kill him. Luckily, Naya shows up just in time to save Kyle and kill Shane.

Kyle is rushed to the hospital, where he is treated and makes a quick recovery. He thanks Naya for saving his life, and she thanks him for teaching her about the woods. By the looks of it, Naya is planning to hang around permanently.

After getting back home, Jill comes clean to Scott about what happened to Sean. As we suspected, Sean was the pervert who killed Caleb. Thanks to Shane's motion cameras in the park, Kyle and Jill found out what Sean did. Kyle wanted to collect more evidence and bring Sean in.

Unfortunately, Jill didn't want to endure the long legal procedure for justice. She went behind Kyle's back and paid Shane to blackmail, lure, and kill Sean.

After confessing to Scott, Jill visits Kyle at the hospital and promises she will be okay. She begs him to promise the same, but he can't. He still sees and talks to Caleb and doesn't want to let go.

After his discharge, Kyle agrees to sign whatever papers Esther needs to prove her wrongful death liability case.

Even after Shane's death, Kyle continues to blame himself for her death. He tries to seek answers to what life she led before her death. He allows the chief to give Lucy a native burial. With no job at the park anymore, Kyle leaves for Nevada to follow a lead. Souter tries to discourage him from pursuing the case, but Kyle insists.

In Nevada, he finds out that Lucy lived with the Gibbs family. The family took advantage of many kids by hiding behind a religious mask. Kyle learns that Lucy/ Grace went through a lot in that foster home. She always believed her cop father would come to save her. When he didn't, Lucy ran away and returned to the woods.

Hearing this, Kyle puts the pieces together and calls Souter. They meet by the lake, and Souter comes clean about his sins. Lucy was his daughter, but he kidnapped and left her with the Gibbs family. He thought Lucy would be safer there than with her stepfather, Roger.

After Lucy returned, she started blackmailing Souter. Ultimately, he killed her to 'protect' his family and marriage. Kyle refuses to help Souter cover up the crimes. To escape his punishment, Souter kills himself.

Kyle finally says goodbye to Caleb and chooses to leave. He leaves his horse and Caleb's toys to Naya. The chief is proud to see Kyle finally try to move on.
